Happy new year! And huge news for our charity...

We have rebranded! We are no longer Support in Mind Scotland. We are now Change Mental Health. This has come with a new logo and refreshed mission and values.

Our CEO, Nick Ward, was excited to reveal our new name and made this announcement:

"We have grown so much over the past number of years and so have our ambitions to support more people in more parts of the country. With this new identity, we want to pay homage to our past and represent the different types of support we can offer along with the tapestry of different people we work with.

"The name Change Mental Health is a call to arms. We want to see changes in mental health support and provision for everyone and we want to change society by changing attitudes, fighting stigma and influencing government. Ultimately Change Mental Health wants to build a future where no one needs to face mental illness alone."

Statistics so far

Our Locality Manager, Rostia, has recently completed our first quarterly report and we couldn't be happier with the results.

It is clear the project has come on leaps and bounds in just the few months is has been up and running.

Since starting up we have received 490 referrals and made 1193 social prescriptions.

We have found the majority of our clients prefer to speak on the telephone or see our Community Link Workers (CLWs) in person at their GP Practice.

The majority of our referrals have been because of Mental Health and Wellbeing and the most common age range of our clients is between 55 and 64.

Recruitment

We are currently recruiting for a Senior (SCLW) and a Community Link Worker (CLW) Alness and Invergordon and 2 Community Link Workers (CLWs) in Inverness and Nairn.

These positions provide an excellent opportunity for someone looking to assist clients with a range of issues get the help and care they need to improve their wellbeing.

If you or someone you know is interested in joining our team visit our website for more information: www.changemh.org/work-with-us.

Meet the team

We're excited to welcome our newest member of the team: Faye Ross, who is a Community Link Worker!

"I am most looking forward to playing an active role in supporting the wellbeing of others alongside such an amazing team.

"I am a recent psychology graduate and have interests in baking, music, films and walking. I also love to care for animals and travel."

We're all looking forward to working with Faye!
